Fix Your Credit Yourself

Before mailing materials into a facility: many prisons accept books only when shipped directly from a publisher or approved vendor, and some limit photocopies, color and binding. Check the facility's mail rules first. Black-and-white printing costs far less and is accepted more often.

If you or someone you love is struggling, call or text 988. Dial 211 for local help with food, housing and health. To request bulk copies or a free workshop for your organization, call Damon J. Taylor at 267-633-5716.
